EDC Changes Meet Stiff Opposition

PARIS (AP)—Formidable and perhaps unbeatable opposition is building up among Western allies to the French plan to change the European Defense Community treaty.

Some of France's five prospective partners in the EDC army were reported ready to reject most of Premier Mendes-France's modifications.

The resignation of three members of Mendes-France's cabinet Friday gave him a stern warning that big sectors of home opinion think the changes do not go far enough. But outside France the feeling is they go too far.

The premier has the task of reconciling both elements.

MAY BACK OUT

A diplomatic source reported one or more of the other allied powers was thinking of sending back a sharply worded note saying there seems no point in going to Brussels, where the six foreign ministers meet next Thursday and Friday to discuss EDC.

Western diplomats said the whole purpose of the treaty would be knocked out by Mendes-France's proposals and that the remaining shell would not be able to operate effectively.

The immediate spell of opposition was not limited to the EDC partners. The United States and Britain also were reported against any tampering with the original treaty.

West German political leaders described the revamped plan as "absolutely unacceptable." They said it would make Germany a second-class nation in the proposed defense community.

Milestone for Peace River

Bennett Turns On B.C.'s First Gas

BY SETH HALTON
Colonist Staff Writer

FORT ST. JOHN—Northern British Columbia passed another milestone in its industrial development Saturday night when Premier W. A. C. Bennett opened the valve which turned on natural gas for domestic use in Fort St. John.

It is the first time natural gas produced in B.C. has ever been used commercially and the farmers and oilmen from surrounding districts crowded into the baseball park in this city of 1,600 people to eat free barbecued beef and watch the official opening ceremonies on "G" for Gas Day.

Others attending the ceremony were Attorney-General Bonner, who is accompanying the premier on a fact-finding tour which will take them as far north as Whitehorse; Grant McConachie, president of the Vancouver Chamber of Commerce; and George McMahon, president of Pacific Petroleum Ltd., which has done more than any other company to make the dream of gas riches for this province come within reach of being a fact.

OUTLET NEEDED

All that is needed now is an outlet for the proven reserves of more than four trillion cubic feet which are known to lie under the fertile black soil of the Peace River block, and everyone here from Reeve Tom Mitchell down is sure an outlet will be found.

They base their confidence on the knowledge that since West Coast Transmission's application to build a pipeline was turned down none of the major oil companies—and they are almost all represented here—have eased up appreciably on their drilling or exploration.

Mr. McMahon, who sees a tremendous future for B.C. in gas and oil, said that in a 27-mile stretch paralleling the Alaska Highway just north of the Peace River, Pacific Petroleum has enough gas to supply a pipeline to the Pacific Northwest for its first two years.

Already 46 producing wells have been capped, awaiting a market, out of a total of 56 holes drilled.

The proportion of successes is an amazing indication of the natural wealth of the area when it is recalled that one producer in five tries is very good and one in eight an average. One of Pacific Petroleum's Fort St. John wells, if allowed to produce at its full capacity, could satisfy the needs of every city in the province with 71,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

Mr. McMahon is here because two of Pacific Petroleum's wells are

Cool Mountie Disarms Shooting Murder Suspect

Blazing Gun Battle Erupts In Island Fishing Village

(Special to the Colonist)

ALERT BAY—A shotgun-wielding murder suspect was disarmed by a cool RCMP corporal after a blazing gunfight in this small island fishing community early yesterday, and arrested on a charge of killing his common-law wife.

Peter Bordeniuk, 35-year-old fisherman, was flown to Oakalla Prison late last night, charged with murder.

The dead woman is Anna Plesko, also 35, who ran a rooming house here.

RCMP officers, who asked that their names not be used, said a man armed with a single-barrelled shotgun roused Mrs. Plesko and her 16-year-old daughter, Vera, from their beds Saturday morning.

They ran screaming from the house in their night-clothes and headed for a neighbor's home. Vera made it, but a shotgun blast cut down Mrs. Plesko, who died in hospital 45 minutes later.

Const. Don Bloxham, who arrived seconds after the fatal shots, had to dive into the bushes to escape a shotgun blast himself.

The officer returned the fire with his revolver and called for assistance.

He was reinforced by Cpl. Jack Ross and another RCMP officer, Corporal Ross, after firing several shots into the ground at Bordeniuk's feet, came out of cover and calmly arrested him.

Police believe the shooting was a sequel to a dispute over ownership of Mrs. Plesko's apartment house.

There were several witnesses to the shooting. Royal Canadian Mounted Police reinforcements were flown in from Vancouver to assist the five-man detachment here.

An inquest will be held Monday or Tuesday.

Bordeniuk was said to have been the common-law husband of the dead woman, although they had been separated for some time.

BOUND OVER

About two weeks ago he faced police action in connection with Mrs. Plesko's household and was bound over to keep the peace.

Bordeniuk was flown to Vancouver under heavy RCMP escort last night and lodged in Oakalla. He will appear in court Monday.

'Liberation' Popular

Invasion Plan Wins Support

TOKYO (AP)—Endorsements of Red China's revived policy to invade Formosa, island stronghold of Nationalist China, poured off the Peiping radio today.

Four separate stories in the Communist radio's English-language broadcasts followed up Premier Chou En-Lai's announcement that the Communists planned a conquest of Formosa and would brook no foreign interference.

Army men meeting in congresses in the north, northeast and northwest placed "strong stress . . . on the need to prepare for the liberation of Taiwan (Formosa)," the radio said.

The Fukien provincial people's congress, the broadcast said, "resolved that the central task for the people of the province was the liberation of Taiwan."

PLEGGED TO DEFEND

In Washington Saturday night, Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, the Republican policy leader, said the United States was committed "to defend Formosa against an attack by aggressors."

Interviewed on a TV-radio show, Ferguson expressed his belief that Red China's new campaign was brought on by announcement of the meeting next month by the foreign ministers of the United States and seven other countries on a proposed Southeast Asia defense pact.

Cougar Hunter Bags Vicious Sheep-Killer

CAMPBELL RIVER—A vicious male cougar which had been slaying numerous sheep on nearby Quadra Island was tracked down and shot Friday by well-known hunter Dave Williams of Oyster Bay.

Williams' cougar hounds Sport and Boon treed the cat three times before the hunter was able to finish it off with a well-aimed shot.

Williams received a call for assistance late Thursday night from Arthur and Herbert Joyce who have a sheep farm on the Cape Mudge end of the island.

The ferry Victory II was specially chartered by Williams to make the journey to the island.

Cougar tracks were quickly found, but the animal was not located until early Friday morning. It was in a vicious mood when found.

When the cat's stomach was opened it was found to contain a recent good meal of lamb. Many of the slain sheep were found buried in the characteristic way of the cougar, under leaves and branches.

Williams, who returned here Saturday, thinks a female cougar is still likely to be roaming the island.

Offer Accepted

Salmon Tie-Up Comes to End

VANCOUVER (CP)—The week-long tie-up of British Columbia's salmon industry ended Saturday when 600 striking tendermen overwhelmingly accepted an offer of a $15 monthly wage increase this year and $5 in 1955.

The ballot, taken by members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.), was 88 per cent in favor of a "final" offer by the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing the operators.

The vote was confirmed by association officials, although union spokesmen could not be reached immediately for comment.

It is understood that seniority proposals and a welfare plan made by the association were accepted by the union before Saturday's ballot.

FISHING MONDAY

The fisheries association said acceptance of the wage offer would mean that fishing would probably start Monday, in order to capitalize on the big Adams River sockeye run now heading up the Fraser River.

The union pulled its men off their jobs last Friday midnight to back up demands for a $30 a month boost on a one-year contract. Basic wage was $1.20 an hour.

Included in the union's demands were a revised seniority clause and a welfare plan. The association said its proposed welfare plan would cost operators an additional $5 a month for each tenderman.

These concessions are in addition to those granted under a conciliation board award. Included are additional holidays and vacation pay amounting to between $40 and $50 a month.

The strike had virtually ended the province's salmon industry from the outset, although it wasn't until Thursday that 4,000

Tofino Baby Succumbs In Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-day-old Tofino baby who was rushed to hospital here Thursday aboard an RCAF mercy plane died Saturday.

The child, Jennifer Highfield, has been in serious condition since her birth. She was flown to Vancouver in a dramatic mercy flight Thursday afternoon after an earlier attempt to pick her up failed when fog prevented an aircraft from landing at Tofino, on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Neighbors had administered artificial respiration in relay from the time of the child's birth to the arrival of the mercy plane.

The baby was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wilfred Highfield at Tofino.

To Aid 'Evaluations'

Visit to U.S. Urged For Touring Britons

(From UP and AP Dispatches)

BOSTON—The Christian Science Monitor suggested in an editorial Saturday that President Eisenhower or Democratic Party leaders invite to the United States the British Labor Party leaders now in Communist China.

The Monitor said that in the United States "these British delegates would find information, a welcome, and a concept of freedom and integrity exceedingly pertinent to the crucial evaluations the British travelers seek to make."

NEW PERSPECTIVE

The newspaper said former British prime minister Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan, left-wing leader and sharp critic of the United States, might then return home with a new perspective of world problems.

Meanwhile more than 400 prominent Chinese welcomed Attlee and his delegation to Red China at a reception in Peiping's Pavilion of Purple Light, the Communist radio reported today.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai headed the 400, drawn from all walks of life.

Peiping radio said the party

Senate Slices Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate passed by voice vote Saturday night a foreign aid bill carrying $2,790,824,816, or nearly $650,000,000 less than President Eisenhower asked.

A $200,000,000 cut was made in military funds before the bill was passed despite warnings by administration leaders of a continuing dangerous world situation.

Refuses To Go Back to Australia

B.E.G. Diver Vanishes in B.C.

BY PETER BRUTON

Canadian immigration authorities have been asked to pick up and deport a 23-year-old Australian diver who refused to return home with the rest of his country's British Empire Games squad.

The Daily Colonist learned last night that Kevin Newell, who failed to place in either the men's springboard or tower diving at the Games, had "disappeared" after competing at the Kelowna Regatta.

We can't have coves doing that sort of thing," Mr. Eve told The Daily Colonist before his departure.

He said that he had asked the Canadian immigration authorities to find Newell and see that he was sent home immediately.

Newell has no fixed occupation and will take a job anywhere he can train, said Mr. Eve.

Newell and New Zealand diver Jack Stewart were allowed to compete at Kelowna after Dr. George Athans of Kelowna, who was chief diving referee at the B.E.G., promised team managers he would see the divers were returned to Vancouver in time to catch their planes.

Stewart returned to Vancouver Friday and flew out with the rest of his team. He told Mr. Eve and Australian trade commissioner James Payne that he had not seen Newell since Thursday.

Newell will be flown back to Australia as soon as he can be found.

Foreign Ministers To Plan Defense Of Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and seven other countries with a stake in Southeast Asia announced agreement Saturday on a foreign ministers' conference "to strengthen the fabric of peace" by weaving a united

The announcement came simultaneously in the capitals of all eight nations—the United States, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

The meeting was scheduled for September 6 at Baguio, the Philippines' summer capital. Its aim: "To consider measures to further their common objectives in the area."

This is the sort of thing Secretary of State Dulles, who will represent the United States, has been suggesting since early this year.

In March, months before the Communists tightened their hold on Indo-China, Dulles was urging "united defense" and, if need be, "united action" in Southeast Asia to block the Red advance.

While the accent at the Baguio conference will be on defense, American officials said, the question of economic co-operation will also come up. The economic question in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific where the rice-hungry are often easy prey for Communist propaganda—is a basic one.

There was no word from the state department on what sort of defense arrangement was contemplated. However, negotiations at a working level have been going on among the eight nations for several weeks.

Alcan Inquiry Backed

Liberals and CCF'ers have lined up together in support of Liberal Leader Arthur Laing's demand for a legislative inquiry into Premier W. A. C. Bennett's handling of Alcan matters.

Mr. Laing yesterday opposed the premier's recent statement that he had asked Aluminium Company of Canada officials to "search their souls" and charged Mr. Bennett with "blackening the reputations of individuals and corporations for sordid and degrading political advantage."

CCF'ers Frank Snowsall, ex-MLA, said last night the CCF party feels there should be an investigation, with both the premier and Alcan officials called to testify.

"Mr. Bennett has committed himself to Frohisher and has given away practically the only large water power resource left in B.C. to private enterprise, without discussion by the legislature," he said.

ORIGINAL STAND

"We took this stand on Alcan originally," he said, "and we take it now for both Frohisher and the latest Alcan trouble."

"No cabinet has the right to commit the resources of the people irretrievably without reference to the elected representatives of the people."

Arthur Gibbs, Liberal MLA for Oak Bay, last night said he thought Mr. Laing's condemnation of the premier "would appear to be fully justified and to call a House inquiry would be a good thing."

Hotel Employees Seek Wage Boost

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBE) plans to seek a general wage increase and fringe benefits for workers in most of the hotels operated by the two big railways, including the Empress.

Announcement of the move was made in the CBE's monthly magazine yesterday by W. J. Smith, secretary of the union's joint protective board. Smith said the board had decided to go after a 15 per cent wage boost and the same fringe benefits sought by non-operating rail workers, now threatening a strike to enforce their demands. These consist of eight

Quebec's Wilds Visited

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, a two-day visit to Quebec and nearby camp establishments completed, left Saturday afternoon by air for Sept-les, Que.

At the end of the 300-mile

After bidding good-bye to Governor-General Vincent Massey and Quebec's lieutenant-governor, Gaspar Fauriol, the duke mounted the ramp of his plane, waved to a crowd of 300 gathered at Ancienne Lorette airport and was airborne within minutes.

Earlier, he lunched with Mr. Massey aboard the royal yacht Britannia, which then left for Goose Bay, Labrador, where it will await his arrival Tuesday for the journey back to England.

Date Set For Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has set a new tentative date for the next session of Parliament.

The latest issues of the Canada Gazette calls Parliament for August 26. However, this does not mean members will meet on that day.

The new date is in keeping with Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement that Parliament may be called if Canadian railway workers decide to go on strike.

When Parliament prorogued a pro forma proclamation in the Canada Gazette fixed the tentative date for re-assembly as August 5.

Winch in Excellent Form, Wins Ovation at Picnic

Fresh from his first session of and distribution of surplus Woodsworth biography, "A Man to Remember."

Winch returned yesterday to this area, where he was a CCF member of the legislature for 20 years until his resignation 17 months ago.

Mr. Winch, now MP for Vancouver-East, resigned for reasons of health but appeared to be in excellent health and was in his best speaking form as he

RAFS GOVERNMENT

Passing up any discussion of provincial affairs, the fiery MP rapped the federal government for "failing the peoples of the free world in their time of need."

"We cannot stop Communism by words or by bullets, but by making democracy work first at home and second by helping to make it work in other countries," he said.

Mr. Winch gave an example of how "we are forcing the countries of Asia into Communist hands."

Ceylon agreed to accept low prices for its rubber if the UN would loan the country $50,000,000, but the plan was rejected, with U.S. approval, Communist China then offered rice for rubber on a parity basis, which provided the funds.

"With two billion dollars for defense," he said, "Canada could have given Ceylon 50 millions."

HAS RESPECT

Despite this failure, Canada has the respect of other nations, he said, because "we are the only leading power which has never had imperialist or colonial aspirations."

The MP attacked the federal government's failure to tackle the problem of unemployment

Agricultural Exhibition

It was a foregone conclusion when the City surrendered the Willows property that the day would come when this community would want back its annual fall fair. Although horse racing has supplied the spur to that desire most usually evidenced, it is not in itself the fundamental need. This remains what it has always been, the necessity for an urban settlement to know and to understand its agricultural environs and to work in sympathy and harmony with those who are concerned directly with this essential side of its economy. If Victoria has any real intention of reconstituting a fall fair this, and not racing for its own sake, would be the sound starting point.

The question, of course, comes down to one of ways and means. In the special circumstances in which the City finds itself, a Greater Victoria effort in which all four municipalities could join would be preferable, and would be more likely to ensure the success of any development that resulted. An exhibition on even the most modest scale is a regional affair anyway, and its initiation is only the first step in what then must become a continuous, sustained application of money and energy to keep it up. Racing is useful, both for its direct encouragement to horse-breeding and because it is a decided attraction to a considerable section of the public. But racing should not be the end-all and be-all of any such development, however enticing the inducement might appear.

With more than 100,000 people in the Greater Victoria area, there can be little doubt that the area could revivify and develop in a satisfactory manner a first-class agricultural exhibition, with horse racing in its proper place as an adjunct to that. It is not a step to take in an off-hand manner, however. If the subject is worth considering at all it deserves a much broader meeting of community minds than has been given to the prospect yet. We would like to see the plan discussed at an inter-municipal gathering.

A Fine Gesture

A PLEASING aftermath of the marathon race of the British Empire Games in Vancouver is the report that when he returns to England from his Canadian tour the Duke of Edinburgh will make a personal presentation to James Peters. As all the world knows the English champion marathoner failed to finish the course after being far out in front, but his courage when nearly dead from exhaustion won the admiration and sympathy of everyone.

So much has been written pro and con about the B.E.G. marathon, because of Peters' condition while stumbling helplessly in the stadium, that one important point is apt to be overlooked. It transcends the matter of track arrangements, finish lines, whether an exhausted athlete should be removed from a race, or any other aspect of this most dramatic of marathons. Peters chose of his own will to run the punishing pace he did because his heart was set on victory and victory in record time. A fine sportsman, he himself would neither make excuse nor cast blame for the near-tragic sequel that occurred.

Yet athletic failure brings no reward no matter how gallant the attempt, so that the Duke of Edinburgh's decision to mark personally Peters' superhuman effort is a happy outcome. Once before a marathoner failed under somewhat similar circumstances and a royal witness in the person of Queen Alexandra was moved to compensate him with a special gold cup. Coincidentally royalty in the person of the reigning Queen's consort was a witness of James Peters' valiant bid on his country's behalf, and the Duke's generous gesture thus clothes a memorable episode with requisite honor.

The Turn of the Year

NOT an affair of the calendar which as the past two seasons have shown can be provocatively deceiving, the turn of the year is a time of special enchantment on Vancouver Island. It is accompanied by round harvest moons, golden on the horizon; the sudden turning of mountain ash berries into flaring reds; the thronging of the robins in orchard and garden; and the low, flat calm that falls on the sea when geese make their way south and the coho turns in towards the river-mouth. It is then that the bracken rusts to the color of cured tobacco, when the air is redolent with the spicy scents of balsam and pine, and when the night can suddenly be warm and inviting.

The harbingers of the autumn are commencing to appear, early as the calendar asserts with its fading toll of numbers. Deciduous trees are in the seed and pod stage. Grasses in the meadow have well passed their prime, and long known the flight of swallows skimming fast over the bending tassels. The arbutus tree flaunts its copperd trunk in colors flched from the sunset. Cormorants and squaw ducks are diving in the bays. In the gardens a succession of gay harvests have already waxed and waned, each with its distinctive bouquet. The roses bloom late, their every petal open.

It is the fruitful time of the year, this changing of the guard in the West Coast's month of the salmon run and the fog-hazed, golden moon. Nature is busy with its own accounting, undisturbed by man and his fretful presence; here a handful of seeds for there a timely sowing; young conifers with inches of new green wood on their tips; red squirrels foraging against the days when the wind will blow chill and the land will be wind-swept or sodden. There is magic in it.

Well Done, Terry

The British Empire and Commonwealth Games which were held in Vancouver last week will be a source of happy memories for many persons in the Comox Valley.

While the miracle mile and the dramatic marathon races might have held the attention of the world, there was nothing which interested the people of this valley so much as the 440 and the mile race in which Terry Tobacco of Cumberland took part and brought credit to himself and Cumberland by his performance.

The whole district is proud of Terry Tobacco and the Free Press is happy to be able to express the pride of the district, and particularly of Cumberland, in his achievement.

"Annual Strike"

Protests and general discontent of west coast fishermen at the action of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union in tying up fishing operations by calling a strike of tendermen is not surprising. Indeed the feeling is echoed privately by local fishermen who are fed up with the "annual strike" called by the UFAWU leadership.

This business of calling a strike in one section of the fishing industry each year (thereby tying up the whole industry) is getting to be a habit with the UFAWU leadership. This is not surprising either, since the leadership is of a brilliant red hue and as everyone knows, these people have for their main object in life the stirring up of as much trouble as possible.

Permanent Residents

Right now there is more promise than ever before of a solid, prosperous future for the Twin Cities.

Progress has been unspectacular during the past few years but, surely and steadily, the community is growing, with the most promising sign that of home building activities. Neither city should be too much concerned with the fact that not all the home building is within city limits. Those who built in the rural areas will add to the prosperity of the district as a whole. The shopping centres of the Twin Cities profit by each addition to the permanent population of the Valley.

Log barkers are generally considered to complete the cycle of change from pure sawmilling to utilization of all former waste going to burners. To date, Chemainus, Honeycomb Bay and Youbou have installed barkers. Thus, it can be seen that the changing into valuable dollars of culled wood and bark that used to go up in smoke has reached an advanced stage. One estimate places the proportion of former waste now capable of being turned to good account by chipper plants alone at 75 per cent.

New Canadians

Canada's record with its immigrants since the war has been an excellent one. People from dozens of different countries have been assimilated quietly and effectively. But we still have a few well-meaning individuals who would instruct these newcomers on how to be Canadians.

In many cases the very fact of their coming is a protest against the things we deplore and a vital and dramatic endorsement of the things we cherish.

If we accept them for what they are, there is a good chance that the infusion of their experience, knowledge, culture and aspirations into the stream of Canada's life will produce a Canadian character which can be defined in terms better than any either we or they have ever known.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings

By TOM TAYLOR

IT WOULD be the influence of the little girl who lives next door, a slightly elf of five, without a doubt.

How else explain my unwitting removal of socks and shoes, since I have not padded for many a moon. Not until the refreshing douche of salt water reached my ankles did I realize what I was doing.

I said the spirit who lives next door; perhaps it is I who live next to her. Just where the precedence rests I am not sure; if with me then in time assuredly it will be with her. But we were untroubled by such niceties of distinction.

Melanie is her name—a lovely name, too, the kind you want to linger over—and she was of our Patricia Bay party. So we took hands and sloshed little waves up our legs as we paddled. Delightful.

The other day Gregory Clark was talking on this page of an old man who liked to go barefoot; it was sinful to hide feet in dark encumbrances. So his mother had told him and as you know mothers speak words of wisdom.

Anyway as we wished forward I felt the electric touch of nature that so entranced him; I should do this more often, I thought. Many of us would, as a matter of fact, were we not inhibited by notions of modesty. Or of beauty. Perhaps this is because feet, ipso facto, are not particularly the most elegant adjunct on earth. Incidentally they'd be much less attractive were we all to follow the advice of Mr. Clark's old friend.

But at least when seen through water the imperfections are nicely glossed. Translucence effects a miracle. Looking down I was almost persuaded that my own feet were works of art; never had they seemed so alluring. I cast a glance at Melanie's. I have to admit that if mine were beautiful hers were exquisite, but after all hers are but five years old. Mine have been toiling, and in the dark too, for I won't tell you how long.

Indeed as I gazed in admiration I felt quite fond of my feet. They have borne me well throughout the years, uncomplaining. But now they tingled as though to remind me that, a la Mr. Clark's friend, their proper mission was in contact with the earth or the seas thereof.

Seas should be singular, not plural. This thought broke in on me also. I was paddling in Patricia Bay, but I had paddled in other segments of the same worldwide pool; in Morto Bay, nearby where Leander and Flo Chadwick swam; in Aboukir Bay, where perhaps Nelson gave way to the universal urge; in Rothesay Bay, where countless trippers trip, and in numerous other liquid nooks.

The sea is all around us, as Rachel Carson has remarked, but not often do we stop to realize it is all one. Melanie and I pushed a hefty sliver of B.C. wood out into the receding tide, and how do we know but what it will reach the hand of some five-year-old in Fiji, in Zanzibar, or in Sydney.

Over and beyond the treetops the sun sank as though for a refreshing paddle of its own in Shawnigan Lake. A plane winked its way over the bay before also dropping to rest, although on dry land. A warship tied up at the air force jetty suddenly spun a long luminous thread, half-a-dozen seagulls, their hulls inelegant when not in flight, moved dolefully through the water—there was nothing to eat. Night was approaching.

I thought it time to end our paddle. After all one cannot keep a young lady out to all hours of the evening and we had our feet to dry and our socks and shoes to don. Melanie put hers on in two jiffs. I suppose without a backward thought. But then she will paddle a thousand times more. I wanted to savor an almost forgotten experience and my feet were still telegraphing their joy.

And so I lingered, wondering if, perhaps, the mother of Mr. Clark's old man was not like Solomon in her wisdom.

On the Record

The Octogenarians

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

HERBERT Hoover celebrated his 80th birthday on August 10 and we here congratulate him warmly.

When we lunched with him not long ago he did not seem notably older, and was sunnier than I remembered him from previous years. He still brings in a minority report on universal American interventionism, an attitude which presently appears behind the times but may turn out to be in advance of them yet. At any rate, he is robust, active, and public-spirited in lines divorced from politics. When I saw him he was concerned about medical education and working hard to get funds to extend it.

Octogenarians are remarkable. Initially endowed with exceptional "life force" they take a series of new leases on it and find in latter years new freedoms. Long before he is 80 a man worth his salt has made his peace with God, mankind, and himself. The wrongs he has suffered and the errors he has committed have been digested. Ambitions are behind him. Even death is mentally overcome—the fear of it is a disease of the young.

This detachment, plus interest, is what makes the robust and intelligent old such excellent company. They speak neither for applause nor censure—the chips may fall where they may. They are rich in experience and such prejudices as they retain are impersonal and without resentment.

Nineteen hundred and fifty-four is the 80th year for a number of well-known personalities. Thornton Burgess and W. Somerset Maugham were 80 in January;

Thomas J. Watson in February; Winston Churchill will round out four score in November—and Robert Frost the following March. All of them are much more spirited than most younger men. Mr. Watson is remarkable. On his 79th birthday I reprimanded him with a verse from Alice in Wonderland:

"You are old, father William, the young man said
And your hair has become very white.
And yet you continually stand on your head,
Do you think at your age it is right?"

Albert Schweitzer will be 80 at the turn of the new year. Those who think a man at 80 moribund should observe his life at Lembarane in Africa, site of his world-famous hospital and leper colony. This philosopher, author, scientist, musician and humanitarian rises at 6.30 to play the piano before breakfast at 7.40; spends his mornings in addition to internal supervision, meticulously planning the daily outside work of a large staff of natives and last year began constructing a new building requiring detailed ordering and supervision of carpenters, painters, and masons. His prodigious mail requires daily attention.

Without subsidies of any kind he is perpetually at work raising money in Europe and America. Except for an afternoon siesta he is uninterrupted by busy from dawn to dinner at 7, followed by a short prayer meeting. And after that, often until late into the night, one can hear him playing Bach, often repeating difficult passages over and over again. Does leisure lengthen life? I doubt it. What is called "overwork" is usually overwork.

Frank Lloyd Wright, Bernard Berenson and Arturo Toscanini can look down upon these fledgling octogenarians. Wright was 85 in June, Toscanini is 87—and Berenson is in his 90th year. Wright is still in advance of his times and Toscanini has retired after maintaining and even surpassing the only standard by which a great conductor can be measured. That set by himself.

Berenson, the Boston-born, Harvard-educated American and world-renowned art critic, collector, and expert on the renaissance, has lived most of his life in the fabulous villa "Tutti in Florence." A couple of years ago he abandoned art to write "Ruminations and Reflections" from "jottings" of a diary during the war, which he survived under Nazi occupation as an American and a Jew at that! But one cannot imagine so proud a man—he looks and behaves like a renaissance prince—running away from such inferior barbarians as the Nazis and where should he run except to that destination toward which he is outward-bound? He will certainly expect to be met at its door by God himself.

God, we hope, will admire his prodigious memory. When I saw him a year ago he took up the conversation precisely where we had left off in 1940. Then he was off on other subjects including an entrancing recollection and appraisal of the brothers Henry and Brooks Adams, once his friends and contemporaries, switching then to the latest goings on of so-and-so, and a discussion of modern art, most of which he despises. (What fun it would be to get him and Frank Lloyd Wright together!)

Anyway, many happy returns to them all. We hope that like father William they will say of themselves, "I have done the thing once, I can do it again."

A Valiant Cavalier

(From The Ottawa Journal)

RUPERT'S Land it is to slow-changing institutions in the west and in the Hudson's Bay Company building in Winnipeg is a handsome picture of the prince who did so much for this old company. In Prince Rupert, beyond doubt, was the color children especially are supposed to love, for he was a man "rash, fiery, bold" a valiant cavalier in scarlet cloak and plumed hat charging at the head of his horsemen, striking down Roundheads in the king's name.

Why mention him today? This is no anniversary. We offer the prince for the sake of change, for relief from Joe McCarthy, Chou En-lai, Molotov and Dulles.

Prince Rupert was a man of balance who could inspire others to deeds of courage and endurance in war and in exile content himself with tennis and mezzotint engraving until such time as Cromwell having become a dishonored memory he was called back to serve a second King Charles and be commander of fighting ships being admiral as well as general.

His wars behind him, he strolled about Windsor Castle grounds or experimented in his laboratory where he was much interested in the composition of gun-powder. He ended his days in what C. V. Wedgwood terms "a kind of active serenity" honored and respected "by men of the most differing interests."

He was 63 when he died, no longer a dashing young cavalier; it was a good life filled with honor and leavened by his good humor. When someone spoke of his glorious career of arms he said it was "a life of honor, but a dog would not lead it."

Jitters on the Suez

BRITAIN proposed to sign a treaty with Egypt which would restrict troops to the Suez Canal zone. Bitter protests against the treaty came from Australia. The Australians feared danger of communications between Britain and their country.

This was August, 1929. Just 25 years ago.

George Burrows, 18, won the annual through-Victoria swim from the Causeway to the public float at the Gorge in record time of 58 minutes 28 seconds.

Victoria was preparing for the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows, which promised to be the biggest for years. The forest fire situation in B.C. was serious. Attorney-General R. H. Pooley announced a crackdown on liquor law violators.

General Lord Horne, artillery hero of the Somme, was dead in Edinburgh, aged 68. The B.C. Electric announced that it would spend $50,000 to carry power lines to Shawnigan Lake, Mill Bay and Cobble Hill.

The fleet of the Japanese Vice-Admiral Kamimura had clashed with the Russian Vladivostok squadron at dawn north of Tau Island. First reports indicated that one Russian cruiser had been sunk and two others damaged.

The Russian fleet had scattered. This was August, 1904. Just 50 years ago.

Tokio is joyous over the news as it gives Japan mastery of the sea and restores commerce," said a report to The Colonist.

"The plans and specifications for the foundations of the new C.P.R. hotel facing the James Bay causeway, have arrived, and are on inspection at Captain Troup's office," The Colonist reported.

Tenders for construction of the hotel, not yet named the Empress, were soon to be invited.

"HMS Plumper, Capt. Richards, left Esquimalt on Wednesday morning, to select a site for a lighthouse on Race Rocks." The British Colonist reported 85 years ago, on August 12, 1869.

Aboard were Capt. Richards of the Plumper, who had been surveying the coast for two years, Capt. Fulford of HMS Ganges, Capt. Cooper, Esquimalt harbormaster, Capt. Nagle, Victoria harbormaster, Capt. Mouatt, of the Hudson's Bay Co. ship Otter, and surveyor-general Pemberton.

"The site selected was on the largest outer island at Race Rocks, on the southern side about 25 feet above high water. . . . (Then) the commissioners proceeded to Fishguard Island, at the mouth of Esquimalt Harbor, and there fixed the site for the harbor lighthouse."

"The erection of the lighthouses will be commenced immediately. And it is probable the lanterns will arrive from England before the towers—which are to be built of stone—can be completed."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

BY NOW, those who are condemned to live in cities all summer, or those who took their holidays early in July, are becoming aware of the curious impression that all the air they breathe has been breathed by somebody else.

In mid-August, a strange heaviness descends on cities. It is like an old, smelly, shapeless elderdown. Even in the night there is a lukewarmness about it, like lukewarm water. By day, there is a dustiness, a staleness that does not appear at any other season. Mid-August is a miserable season in cities and towns. It would be a good time to end the year, instead of December 31. It is the time of year in which we lose interest.

According to the experts, there is enough air moving across the whirling face of the earth to ensure fresh air to us all at all seasons. But this curious August sensation that each breath we take has been breathed before may not be without foundation in big cities. The amount of air taken in, exhaled and so exhausted by a quarter million, or half a million people each minute or each hour of the day is a pretty considerable gallonage. Our faith in the principle that warm air rises consoles us. We imagine that all the stale air we exude, sixty times a minute, rises and is carried off into space. But it does not rise far before the air cooler than lung heat absorbs it, and adds it to the atmosphere around us. There can be little doubt that the air we breathe in cities is second-hand air.

Not only is it second-hand air, but it is air polluted by gas fumes, the exhaust of countless motor vehicles, the outbreath of a thousand or ten thousand furnaces that industry never lets out, summer, winter, the exhalations of thousands of kitchen stoves.

The heaviness of mid-August is not mere imagination. It takes a good stiff breeze to cleanse a city of its own stale fog. And the moral is: Take your holidays in mid-August.

Yoo-hoo, you lucky ones!

Letters to the Editor

Tally-hoes

In a recent letter to the Colonist, under the heading "The Summer Scene," W. J. Conover mentions some of the pleasant things to be seen in the streets of Victoria.

One of the not so pleasant sights to those who have not considered the animals is that of the heavy tally-hoes, sometimes filled to capacity by sight-seers, being dragged through steep hills, by straining horses. The drivers and tourists are protected from the scorching sun by canopies, but there is no shade provided for the horses, who have to endure the glare and heat through the long summer days.

On two occasions during a week end spent in Victoria a horse was seen to stumble and almost lose its footing on the slippery surface of the streets, and another to be breathless when it reached the top of a particularly steep hill. The pleasantness of a Sunday afternoon was marred by the sight of the horses toiling so hard, for they work on Sundays as well as on weekdays.

There is absolutely no excuse in this day and age for these out-dated horse-drawn vehicles being turned into one of Victoria's summer attractions when tourists can be provided with all the sight-seeing trips desired by means of the motor bus. To this visitor and many other people from whom complaints have come, Victoria would be a very much more pleasant place in the summer if these horses and tally-hoes were taken off the streets once and for all.

Donors Thanked

Again, we of St. Joseph's Villa wish to extend our sincere thanks to the gardeners of Victoria for sharing their flowers with us.

For "long term" patients, some of us many miles from our homes, families and friends, a simple walk in the garden is a luxury of which we dream. By your kindness, we have a tangible reminder of the pleasures which, one day, will again be ours.

To the staff of The Daily Colonist for their inspiration in originating the "Share the Flowers" plan, with the resulting time and work necessary to bring such a plan into reality, to the donors of the gorgeous "glads" and profusion of other lovely blooms, to those who picked up and delivered and to our staff here at the Villa, who cheerfully and with much care arranged the flowers to advantage, we give our heartfelt thanks.

(Mrs.) MARGARET NORMAN,
St. Joseph's Villa,
Victoria, B.C.

Naval Monuments

I should like to call attention to the dilapidated condition of the two naval monuments in the old cemetery on Quadra Street.

A number of the names are now illegible, but most probably could be found in old files of the Colonist newspaper or the government archives. I hope that the Historical Secretary, naval veterans or the naval authorities at Esquimalt, will be interested enough to have these monuments restored. The cost could not be very large.

CECIL M. ROBERTS,
833 Burdett Avenue,
Victoria, B.C.

A Victoria Pioneer

The Colonist lately said an oil painting by Edward Scrope Shrapnel was given by Mrs. Rithet to the Provincial Archives; also that "Mr. Shrapnel, who died in 1920, lived in Victoria for 20 years."

My father lived in Victoria 31 years since 1889, and the exclusion of the memory of his first 11 years' residence here conveniently blots out memory of British Columbia's earliest art as well as its pioneer.

was president of it. All of which the Archives would apparently like to forget, though they had no objection to the trouble of ascertaining my father's correct death date. This item also says of the artist's grandfather, that "General Henry Shrapnel is credited with the invention of the shell which still bears his name."

My great-grandfather was very wealthy and impoverished himself and descendants with costly shell invention experiments during many years. He also directed, and paid for with family money, the first rock gallery fortifications of Gibraltar, the government being unwilling to hand out the dough.

Some time ago a press item said the name of the shell was likely to be changed. It probably will be, along with many other names, if and when international fascism gains control.

GLADYS SHRAPNEL,

Sacred Booklet

It was perhaps a unique idea of the so-called Social Credit government of British Columbia to reverse the custom by sending out their own printed birth-day greetings—that is to say of the League—rather than wait for the plaudits from the electorate. The booklet is purely repetitious of matters started by a former government and now or nearly accomplished. Other plans also projected by a former government and are now being carried on by a very capable civil service.

A noticeable feature about the publication is the fact that it does not bear the impress of the printer, which one imagines should be mandatory. It does state that it is issued and paid for by their League, but one wonders why? It is not an election year! All the news contained in the booklet can be gleaned from the public press.

The mystifying announcement made recently by the premier, with his customary charming inimitable naivety, that the Aluminum Company operating in British Columbia was going to present his government with "hundreds of thousands of dollars" as an afterthought in the contracts that had already been made by a previous government, it all savors of a delightful trip into Alice's Wonderland.

If, however, it is all within the realm of realism the money belongs to the treasury and the government, apart from the League, could now perhaps improve its stature by revoking the sales tax it imposed on the people.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

is that Masters Motor Co. Ltd. are authorized dealers for AUSTIN cars. Ray Masters, sales manager, hopes you will drop in and let him show you the different models at prices starting from $1,495. A good display at Masters Motor Co. Ltd., 815 View Street, across from the Y.M.C.A.

Boys' Central School

In one of your issues about two weeks ago you had an article about the demolishing of the Boys' Central School at the head of View Street, and you showed a photo of the bell which had been taken down on which the year 1876 appears, and you state the school was erected in that year. I wish to correct this in order that historical events of early days in Victoria can be as correct as possible.

I speak from memory and actual experience when I state that this school was in existence in the year 1874, for it was in that year I attended there, and the only bell to summons boys to their desks was a hand bell in the hands of Mr. Mackenzie when the building was erected, but I think it was 1873, as I know when I went there it was a very new building.

The date which was on the large bell I feel sure was the date the bell was erected in the tower. I would have called your attention to this but I was absent from the city when the article appeared, and so perhaps my somewhat late correction may be explained.

Brought Pleasure

On behalf of the matron and ladies of the Aged and Infirm Women's Home, I wish to thank you for the very beautiful flowers we received.

Our ladies were so delighted and if you could have heard their remarks you would have been doubly repaid for your thoughtfulness. The Home really looked lovely.

The "Share the Flowers" program is a wonderful idea and will give so much pleasure to a great many people. (Mrs.) N. FOX, Secretary, Aged and Infirm Women's Home, Victoria, B.C.

Anti-Sabotage Rewards Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—The joint congressional atomic energy committee Thursday unanimously approved an administration bill providing for rewards up to $300,000 for the detection of attempts to smuggle atomic weapons or materials into the United States.

It remains now for Congress to determine whether there is time to take up the bill this session. The measure is aimed primarily at potential saboteurs.

The greatest height reached by man—83,235 feet—was set Aug. 21, 1953, by a Marine Corps test pilot over California.

Says Animals Suffer

There is a saying that a nation, or a city, is judged by its treatment of animals. No one doubts, I think, that the motives of the organization sponsoring the rodeo are benevolent. But can anyone who faces the facts squarely and honestly say that the means are right?

There is no question about it, animals suffer immeasurably in rodeo, from the torture in the use of spurs and the excruciating pain caused by the tightened strap around the body and the shock and suffering occasioned by the violent throwing to the ground after time.

How very cruel and inhuman it all is! Can any right-thinking person derive entertainment and amusement from the certified actions of tortured animals? For men to inflict cruelty on dumb and helpless creatures is a sin of the greatest magnitude.

H. M. WALSH,
1050 Southgate Street,
Victoria, B.C.

A Suggestion

Like many of your other correspondents I cannot see why an organization like the Kinsmen should want to spoil all the good they have done by sponsoring such a cruel unnecessary show like a rodeo.

Why could they not ask Mr. D. B. Carley, who I understand is a director of the local SPCA, to put on one of his good horse shows—we know there would be no cruelty there and as everyone likes good horse shows I am sure the Kinsmen would derive a splendid financial benefit therefrom.

(Mrs.) H. E. BRISTOW,
623 Head Street,
Victoria, B.C.

Rodeo Protest

I would like to make my protest against this rodeo being sponsored by Kinsmen Club.

I have lived on the Prairies for a number of years; I can vouch for the fact that cruelty is practiced on the animals, in some cases it is done so none can notice it.

My advice to all animal lovers like myself is—If the Kinsmen Club won't give this up, then do what I am doing, boycott all their other things not only this rodeo.

One thing led to another for Ronald K. Planes, Milnes Landing, yesterday.

About $600 damage was done to his car when it crashed into a telephone pole near Colwood in the early morning.

A few hours later in Colwood RCMP court he faced charges of driving without due care and attention and of driving without a license. Planes told the court he fell asleep.

Magistrate A. J. Thomas fined him a total of $75 or seven days in jail. Planes chose the cells for a week.

A. W. LePage, Florence Lake Road, was fined $35 and costs in the same court, also for driving without due care and attention.

Troops Leave Soon

CAIRO (AP)—The British embassy here announced yesterday that 2,000 British troops would start embarking this week-end in their first big withdrawal since the Suez agreement was signed July 27.

Under the agreement all British troops will leave the Suez Canal Zone after an occupation lasting 70 years.

The cruisers Glasgow and Gambia are due at Port Said Sunday or Monday to carry 1,000 Royal Marine Commandos to Malta. Two troopships are due to embark another 1,000 men Tuesday.

Meanwhile, British and Egyptian officials speeded up plans to draft a formal, detailed treaty to carry out the agreement.

It will provide for withdrawal of all 80,000 British troops in the zone in 20 months and the handing over of Suez administration to civilian contractors for the remainder of the seven-year period.

A group of 14 British business men, headed by Sir John Duncanson, director of the National Research Development Corporation, is due to start a survey on the formation of a combination of civilian contractors to run the bases.

Around the Island Island Fairs Start Soon

Vancouver Island centres are hard at work sprucing up their fair grounds for the fall exhibition season which opens at Courtenay, September 3 and 4.

Only Class B exhibition on the Island this year will be the Duncan exhibition September 9, 10 and 11. Duncan has worked hard for years to earn its higher rating.

Highlight of the Duncan exhibition will be on Friday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday afternoon when a real Wild West rodeo will feature bareback riding, steer decorating, wild-west milking, steer-riding, calf-roping and novelty acts.

Duncan has again the largest number of classes for livestock on the Island and a big entry of flowers, vegetables, fruits, handicrafts, women's work and children's work is expected.

Space for commercial booths is already in big demand and a midway will operate on all three days.

Next biggest fairs on the Island are at Saanichton, September 1 to 6; Courtenay, September 3 to 6; Alberni, September 9, 10, 11; and Nanaimo, September 16, 17 and 18.

Cobble Hill's will be held September 8 and 9; Courtenay, September 10 and 11; Luxton and Sooke fairs will be September 11; Lasqueti Island fair, September 11 and 12; Ladysmith, the last, September 22 and 23.

Biggest fair on the Lower Island will be held at Saanichton during the Labor Day week end. Exhibitors will compete in 658 separate competitions in 19 sections.

Two Loggers Hurt

CAMPBELL RIVER—Peter Soraka, 40, and Alex Schiefelbus, 28, both of Vancouver, were injured in separate logging operations.

Soraka, of Lutz Logging Co., Maurelle Island, suffered broken ribs, an arm fracture and a punctured lung when he was struck by a log. He was flown to hospital where he is "resting comfortably."

Schiefelbus suffered a broken leg at Salmon River Logging Co. when a log bounced off a stump and struck him.

NANAIMO—Karl R. Erickson, who was killed in an accident on a road-building project at Jervis Inlet, was a brother of Charlotte Erickson of Nanaimo.

Mr. Erickson, 49, was a bachelor and lived with his sister when not working in the north country.

He was working with a tunnel crew on the Alcan

Training Demonstration Planned

PORT ALBERNI—Dog owners will have a chance to see what obedience-training classes can do for their pets at a demonstration to be staged in Recreation Park, Saturday, August 28.

RCMP Const. Ian Hall, director of obedience classes, will bring a group of owners and their trained dogs from Parkville to show Port Alberni owners the results of the training.

Registrations will be taken for a 12-week series of classes to be sponsored here by the Royal Antediluvian Order of Buffaloes. Frank Graham is in charge of arrangements.

Const. Hall will explain the aims of obedience classes over CJA's Community Mike program Tuesday.

NANAIMO—Sprinkling regulations are in effect in Nanaimo until further notice. Washing of sidewalks, buildings or wetting of roofs by means of hose or sprinklers is prohibited.

Watering of lawns and gardens is permitted in some districts on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday in other specified districts. Watering is limited to two hours in the morning and two in the evening.

Special permits, issued for low-pressure areas, are available at City Hall.

Public institutions and business premises are allowed to water from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. In other years restrictions have been enforced much earlier.

LADYSMITH—Patricia Balfie, daughter of Aid, and Mrs. P. R. Balfie, has been elected

Individual sections are for horses, including draft and riding divisions, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine, goats, rabbits, poultry, eggs, grain and grasses, field crops, vegetables, fruits, flowers, jams and bottle fruits, household arts, honey, women's handicrafts, junior handicrafts and an Indian section.

PORT ALBERNI—Logging closed Friday at the Sprout Lake division of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., western district operations.

Hot, dry winds have dried out the area, leaving a shortage of water for firefighting purposes at the back ends of skidder and skyline settings and resulting in the voluntary closure.

Operations will not start again until September 7 or later.

Construction operations, regarded as less hazardous than logging, will continue.

LADYSMITH—St. John's Anglican Church committee accepted the recommendation of its hall planning committee, composed of W. M. McLaren, and Fred Wilson, for the construction of a new parish hall at revised cost of $3,600.

This amount does not include interior finishing. Contractor is H. P. Lawson, of Saltair.

The old parish hall was sold recently to the Lions Club.

The new hall will be built on the old tennis court adjacent to the church.

Throwing verbal stones at the magistrate will not stop those young vandals who topple stones in cemeteries. Sifter punishments for such offenses will chastise the person so convicted, but they will not fill the vacuum in our society.

What is this vacuum? It is brought about (1) by abdication of authority by parents; (2) by the refusal of the educational system to minister to the spirit as well as to the brain and the body; and (3) by the rejection of Sunday as a day of worship and recreation by the community.

Parents are afraid to discipline their children and especially their teenagers. Why?

Because they do not want to be unpopular around the family table.

Because the parents themselves have no clear vision of community responsibility and moral standards.

Because the phony psychological cult of self-expression has been made the excuse for self-indulgence.

British Columbia's secular education act has sown the wind and is now reaping the whirlwind.

Of all the provincial education acts in Canada, our own fair province's would be most at home in the Communist and atheistic atmosphere of Soviet Russia.

Beau for Princess Margaret Annual U.K. Guessing Game

BY EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Every time pretty Princess Margaret has a birthday—and her 24th is coming up next Saturday—the British public and press start the great guessing game about the man she's going to marry.

The romantic rumors persist that any princess born at Glamis Castle, her birthplace, would choose her husband before she was 20. That legend, of course, evaporated four years ago. By remaining unwed until this time she has broken the European tradition that all princesses must marry young.

Tennant, the young man with whom she rode in the Scottish rain, may be the man. But people around London who know somebody who knows shake their heads and say: "Townsend, the 38-year-old air attaché at the British Embassy in Brussels is still in the lead for the affections of the Princess and drawing ahead of the pack."

Next year, when she's 25, she'll marry him, they say.

Margaret's public statements on the subject are, naturally, limited. But on one occasion several years ago she was said to have confided in a girl friend: "When I marry I shall need someone firm to keep me in order."

Townsend might be the man. Although his bravery, skill and firmness in the face of danger have been amply proven, his firmness with ladies has not necessarily undergone all the tests. His wartime marriage broke up and he divorced his wife.

Townsend, when a fighter pilot, was summoned to Buckingham Palace so many times he was decorated that the late King George VI once looked up at the familiar face and asked, "What, you here again?"

It wasn't long after this that he was seconded to the palace as Equerry of Honor under a system devised by the King to give recognition to outstanding service men. Townsend turned up the efficiency of the Royal tour of South Africa to such a point that he was appointed deputy master of the King's household.

ESCORTEE ROYAL LADIES. In that job he began escorting the Queen, Queen Mother and Princess Margaret to theatres and races, and sometimes went riding with Margaret in Windsor Great Park.

At times he was allowed to round up an extra man and, with a lady-in-waiting, take Princess Margaret to a little restaurant. When her parents as she did when she was on an official round of duties in Edinburgh. Townsend was asked to keep her amused. He whisked her off to a local movie house to see a gangster picture and sat her in the stall seats not usually decorated by royalty.

A little more of this and then the talk started. The then 22-year-old princess, they said, was in love with the divorced RAF man.

There are two versions of what happened next:

1. To escape a situation that had grown untenable, Townsend himself asked to be transferred from the palace.

2. He was banished to Belgium, a relative Siberia despite all its charms after the loss of Buckingham Palace.

In any case he went.

Princess Margaret has de- sided opinions on a number of things, which unquestionably 500-pound German bomb buried the man she loves, on a war-blast site here for 10 years. When she and that man who years ago, a steam shovel scooped ever he is, decide to get married, they'll probably speak up about it, then dropped it.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Faith healer Joseph A. Desfosses of Montreal was fined $200 or one month in jail in abstentia Friday on a second charge of practicing medicine in British Columbia without a license.

Desfosses was convicted by Magistrate Oscar Orr on the contents of pamphlets which contained testimonials by persons who claimed he cured them of various ailments.

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Prince Rupert's drydock committee met in emergency session Saturday to find boats that will be left without drydock facilities after September 30.

U.S. Congress Seeks Way Out of Red Ban

WASHINGTON (UP)—House Republican leaders yesterday sought to draft a compromise bill which would outlaw the Communist Party without scuttling other subversive control laws now on the books.

They plan to offer the proposal to the House Monday as a substitute for a far more stringent bill whipped through the Senate, 85 to 0, in a surprise Democratic-led maneuver Thursday.

The Senate bill would outlaw the party and deny bargaining rights to Red infiltrated unions.

Administration congressional leaders fear Democrats will make election campaign hay if the Republican majority tries to bottle it up in the House.

Administration sources said President Eisenhower objects to the bill because he believes it would make "martyrs" out of the Communists and drive them further underground. Attorney General Herbert Brownell and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover were said to share that view.

Another objection is that the bill would tend to nullify Communist-control laws previously passed by Congress.

House leaders believe the last complaint is the most serious and will move to revise the Senate version to meet it.

The Senate bill would outlaw the party and deny fines up to $10,000 and jail terms up to five years for anyone who "knowingly, wilfully and intentionally" becomes or remains a party member.

House leaders said it would be impossible under the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution to force anyone to admit Communist membership if that membership is made a crime.

Not really romantic though, for a long-nosed, prosaic police car swirled behind them in the wet for the entire 90 minutes.

But it was enough to couple the princess' name with that of another young man. The men who've led the list each year at this time are:

1952—Prince Nicholas of Yugoslavia, now dead.

1951—Billy Wallace, still in the royal select group.

1950—The Earl of Dalkeith, now married to a former model.

1949—Lord Ogilvy, now married to an American heiress.

1948—The Marquis of Blandford, now married.

The non-birthday selections include ex-King Michael of Romania, Mark Bonham-Carter, Lord Hambleton, Lord Porchester and Lord John Hope.

Canada Could Be Losing Six of Leading Chessmen

WINNIPEG (CP)—One-way tickets have been bought to take Canada's six-man chess team to the world championships in Amsterdam, September 4, Dr. Nathan Divinsky, president of the Chess Federation of Canada, said Friday.

Still $1,000 short of the required $3,500 for the trip, players are not sure how they will finance the trip home.

Two players are from Winnipeg and the city's finance committee recommended to council Friday a donation of $200.

Dr. Divinsky said he will spend two days in Montreal and Toronto trying to raise funds following a federation meeting in Toronto Tuesday.

Scheduled to sail from Quebec City, September 4, are: Dr. Divinsky, Abe Yanofsky, Maurice Fox, Montreal; Frank Anderson, Toronto; Paul Valtonis, Hamilton, and Dr. Feydor Bohatirchuk, Ottawa.

Bob Fleming Helps B.C. Golfers To Great Willingdon Cup Victory

LONDON, Ont.—Doug Bajus Ontario was third with 598, of Vancouver and Bob Fleming Manitoba fourth, Alberta fifth, of Victoria Saturday led a strong New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island sixth, Nova Scotia seventh and Saskatchewan eighth.

Bajus led his mates with a 36-hole score of 143—the lowest of any player. He fired a two-over-par 72 in the morning round and came home with a 71.

Right behind was Fleming, the 23-year-old Gorge Vale sensation who is having his greatest year on the links. Fleming matched Bajus' 72 in the morning round and fired an identical 72 in the afternoon for a 144 total.

Walter McElroy of Vancouver came in with 145—a 74 in the morning and a 71 in the afternoon—and B.C. amateur champion Lyle Crawford of Vancouver had rounds of 75 and 75 for a 150 total.

The B.C. team was in front virtually all the way. But it was given a close battle—first by Ontario and then by Quebec. British Columbia held a four-stroke lead over Ontario after 18 holes and shook off Quebec on the final nine. Playing for Ontario were Moe Norman, the hole-in-one hero of Friday's America's Cup matches, Eric Hanson, Nick Weslock and Ontario champion Grant Shirik.

In the 36-hole Canadian junior championship, held in conjunction with Willingdon Cup play, stocky Grant Dearnaley of Montreal's Mount Royal Club won the title with a score of 153.

George Knudson of Winnipeg and Will Homenuk of Yorkton, Sask., tied for second with 154 while Kevin Riley of Vancouver was two strokes off the pace.

There is considerable substance to the report that the Mann Cup final will be played in Victoria for the second straight year if the Shamrocks win the Inter-City Lacrosse League championship.

And there is considerable reason to believe that if the Rocks do come through, city fans will see a repeat of last year's final with Peterborough Trailermen the likely Eastern champions.

While no one in authority will say anything definite, it is known that Memorial Arena has been reserved for the dates of the Mann Cup final, which will be September 13, 15, 17, 20, and if necessary, 22, 24 and 25, in the West. And it is known, too, that negotiations have been going on for some time and that most, if not all, Eastern clubs have already signified their willingness to come West if Victoria is the western finalist. In fact, there is a good chance that the series will be played in the West if Nanaimo Native Sons should emerge as ICLL winners. In this event, most of the games would probably be played in Memorial Arena.

It all adds up. The East, it is reported, hasn't a suitable playing site available for the final. Staging it in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens two years ago proved financially disastrous and only Peterborough, with a box seating 3,600, has enough fan accommodation to warrant consideration among Ontario Lacrosse Association teams. But Peterborough's box is outside and outdoor lacrosse in mid-September is gambling with the elements.

And then there's the fact that Victoria last year produced the most financially successful final in recent years at least and there is no doubt that crowds would be as large this time, particularly in view of the fact that the Trailermen again look like the best bet to take honors in the East. A rematch would be a natural in Victoria.

Petes lost four of their regulars, including Nip O'Hearn and the Indian combination of Ross Powless and Roger Smith from last year's powerhouse but they appear to be as strong as ever. They wound up on top of the OLA standings and Friday night trimmed St. Catharines in the first game of the playoffs.

As replacements, the Trailermen brought up a couple of good juniors, Denny Patterson and Bob Allan, who were second and seventh in the scoring lists in latest available statistics, and added Don Campbell and Don McWhirter, a couple of experienced veterans. And they still have Moon Wootton, Curly Mason, Russ Slater, Harry Wipper, Lou Nickle, Don Ashee, Jerry Fitzgerald. Yes, it would be interesting to see if the Rocks have improved enough.

Random Harvest
It's unlikely that either Shamrocks' Jack Bionda or Indians' Alf Brenner will be out for more than one game of the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoffs. The one-game suspension was automatic and it's believed both will be allowed to return to action, with a scolding, after the league commission has discussed the matter at a meeting tomorrow. Vancouverite Proves Best at Singles Play

BY IAN GLENDAY
Jim Hodges, 39-year-old bowler from West Point Grey, Vancouver, won the singles championship and W. H. Cullin Trophy yesterday as play concluded in the week-long Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association's annual tournament.

Hodge, who has done much of his 10 years of bowling in Scotland, defeated W. Frew of Nanaimo, 15-9, before a large gallery at the Beacon Hill green. Making his first appearance in the annual tourney, the slender Vancouver bowler was given a strong tussle early in the game but clinched his victory with two successive four-enders.

It marked a successful day for out-of-town bowlers in men's play as they captured four events as well as the mixed rink competition. Only in the rinks did Victoria bowlers break the monopoly.

A. E. Barbour and Bonnett of Stanley Park took the F. S. Martin Cup for the men's doubles championship with a 15-9 victory over Hodge and Drysdale of West Point Grey. The Walter Cross Rose Bowl for runners-up doubles supremacy went to the Tacoma combination of Ernie Myers and Mentzer, who defeated A. Inglis and G. Morrison of White Rock, 15-10.

WISS RINKS EVENT
Col. S. Baxandall of the host Beacon Hill green brought Victoria its only men's title when he skipped his rink to a 14-11 victory over the H. Davis quartet of the Canadian Pacific greens to win the Fort Garry Cup.

A rink skipped by D. McCann of Grandview, Vancouver, defeated E. Myers of Tacoma, 12-8, in the rink runners-up final for the Bowden Cup.

Hodge gained his third final in the mixed rink competition but lost to Mrs. J. M. Holmes rink from White Rock.

In women's competition, Victoria bowlers fared well as they won two of the three events at the Canadian Pacific greens, women's headquarters during the week-long tourney.

The week-long tourney which attracted bowlers from all parts of the Pacific coast. Mrs. A. W. Stewart of Burnside won the singles title and the James McMartin Cup by defeating Mrs. Bernice Bett of Canadian Pacific, 15-7.

Mrs. I. Walkey and Mrs. N. Wallace of Canadian Pacific took the doubles crown and the W. & J. Wilson Trophy with an easy victory over Mrs. McKelvie and Mrs. Hullah of Vancouver. The George Straith Cup for rinks competition went to Mrs. Peddie of Lake Hill, who edged Mrs. E. Morrett of West Point Grey, 15-14.

Members of her rink included Mrs. E. Minny, Mrs. Vandrecht, and Mrs. McDowell.

Club-president Bruce Williams announced that the financial crisis had reached the stage that pitchers not being used in the game being played that night would have to take tickets. The decision was made Friday night after only 234 fans showed up for a game with the league-leading Lewiston Braves.

It was also decided to discharge all policemen patrolling the park as well as the bartender at the beer concession, where sales haven't been large enough to pay his salary. The press-box staff was also asked to work for nothing for the rest of the season. And, finally, the Senators planned to make drastic cuts in playing personnel.

Play went on as usual last night, however, with the Chiefs making it two in a row over the Braves, 3-2.
Defeat failed to make a difference.

Private Radio Hook-Up Gets Bettors in Trouble

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—Three Chicago men are under federal bail on charges they tried to beat the horse races by transmitting information from the starting gate to the betting windows over a unique private radio hookup.

The men were identified after their arrest Thursday as: Hugo Frankel, 44, who said he is a former Chicago policeman; his brother, Everett Frankel, 36, and Gerald Klein, 23, all of Chicago. Vincent Murphy, head of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau at Narragansett Park, where the men were picked up, said they operated this way:

One man stood near the starting gate, equipped with a transmitter in his pocket and a tiny microphone in the palm of his hand. His two confederates would be stationed at the $50 and $100 betting windows. Both these men would have small receivers connected to hearing aids. The man with the microphone would "broadcast" the horse that broke from the starting gate first and his two partners would bet as much as they could on that horse in the few seconds between the start of the race and when the mutual windows were slammed shut.

The trio was charged with violating federal communications commission regulations by operating a radio station without a license.

Posing happily with 19 and 14-pound salmon he caught yesterday is Dan Watson of Oakland. Guided by Claude Creed of Brentwood, Watson caught both on a Strip-Teaser while using six ounces of weight and 100 feet of nylon line. Larger fish was taken off Mill Bay and the smaller one at Separation Point.

Brooklyn Dodgers scored a dramatic come-from-behind victory over the New York Giants yesterday but major league baseball attention continued to be focused on the Milwaukee Braves as they continue their amazing National League pennant drive.

While the Dodgers edged the Giants, 6-5, for their second straight one-run victory over New York, Milwaukee continued to roll in high gear by posting its 19th victory in the last 21 games with a 3-1 decision over Chicago.

Chet Nichols stopped the Cubs with three hits and lost his bid for a shutout when Ralph Kiner clubbed his 18th home run in the seventh inning. It was Nichols' ninth victory against eight setbacks.

The victory moved the Braves to within four-and-a-half games of the league-leading Giants and three games of the Dodgers, who knocked another game off New York's once-commanding lead.

But it was an up-hill climb for Brooklyn. Trailing 5-0 after five innings, the Dodgers got back in the game when Carl Furillo, who smacked a two-run homer to beat the Giants Friday night, unloaded his fifth major league grand-slammer in the sixth inning.

That cut the lead to 5-4 and Roy Campanella boosted the Dodgers into their winning lead with a two-run single in the seventh.

NO CHANGE
In the American League, Cleveland's scint but steady two-and-a-half-game lead remained intact although the Indians had to go 11 innings before edging the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3.

The second-place New York Yankees kept pace with a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox for their sixth straight victory, and Chicago White Sox retained their outside chance by dropping Detroit, 4-3.

The Indians also had to come from behind for their 12th victory in 15 games. Baltimore scored three runs in the top of the eighth inning but Bobby Avila's three-run homer in the bottom half of the eighth tied the score. A two-out single by Hal Naragon brought Dave Pope in from second with the winning run.

New York got excellent pitching from Ralph Branca, the Brooklyn and Detroit castoff, who won his first game as a Yankee. The right-hander allowed just four hits, walked three and fanned five before giving way to a pinch-hitter in the sixth. The lone Boston run was scored off reliever Johnny Sain.

Place the door into position. The hinge is then placed in the door and the door is closed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Please explain the difference between a hinge and a latch.

The picture shows a new-type hinge. It is a hinge that does not require mortising. It is made of two parts, a hinge jamb and a hinge flange. The hinge jamb is placed in the door and the hinge flange is placed in the frame.

Doors up to one inch thick and twenty-four inches wide can be hung with this hinge. It is a simple and easy way to hang a door.

Extend the line from Y to Z. Single master of the Henry after door is removed. Remove the hinge from the door.

Among them was Judah Philip Davies who, like the other auctioneers of his time, was a prominent citizen.

A Cowboy Turns to Wood Sculpture

By FRANCIS DICKIE

A HOBBY, dating from childhood, hard work, perseverance, good luck and 20 years' waiting, at last brought success to rancher W. Garstang-Hodgson.

The good luck came from a torn-off horseshoe, proving for once there's truth in an old superstition; the perseverance, hard work and waiting was a part of this man's Scottish nature; the carrying out of his long-delayed hobby was due to the environment of his boyhood home.

Born in the old Glasgow district, Scotland, in 1891, W. Garstang-Hodgson spent his first 10 years in the old Glasgow district. He was a boy of 10 when he was sent to the United States to live with his uncle, a ranchman in the West. He was a boy of 10 when he was sent to the United States to live with his uncle, a ranchman in the West.

W. Garstang-Hodgson, a cowboy turned artist who discovered a new form in the oldest of the arts.

THE BEGINNING

After a short time upon the ranch there came over him an impulse to do wood carving. He had wanted to do it as a boy, but his uncle had said that it was a waste of time. He had wanted to do it as a boy, but his uncle had said that it was a waste of time.

It was a most unusual situation for a man of his age to be doing wood carving. He had wanted to do it as a boy, but his uncle had said that it was a waste of time. He had wanted to do it as a boy, but his uncle had said that it was a waste of time.

FROM THE ROOT

Yet in this hour of his life, when he was a boy of 10, he was sent to the United States to live with his uncle, a ranchman in the West. He was a boy of 10 when he was sent to the United States to live with his uncle, a ranchman in the West.

The tools required blades capable of coping with amazing twists and turns, sharp curves of extreme flexibility. Also, he required, then made an entirely new type. Among these were...

A Briton reports the following as an infallible method for buying a secondhand automobile:

"I don't know anything about mechanics," he says, "but I never get fooled. I get the salesman to let me try the machine by myself and I drive it to another dealer, offering to sell it to him. In a moment I learn all that's bad and all that's good about the car."

An English doctor has made a most interesting discovery: people with wide feet have more chance to succeed in life than those with narrow feet.

The physician has interviewed some 200 persons in connection with this study, and has found that, within a margin of error of 10 per cent, his theory is borne out by facts. Unfortunately he has also discovered that the theory is making him lose many friends and patients—those who have narrow feet became offended and declared that he was a "flat-foot doctor."

that he's crazy, and I'm not with wide feet think he is "pulling their leg."

In view of all these charges and riled feelings, he has requested three "neutral" practitioners to examine 1,000 people in all walks of life to decide whether the shape of the foot determines the degree of success one achieves in this world.

THE writings of James Whitcomb Riley, known as "The Hoosier Poet," are likely to retain a unique place in America's literature, because of their intensely human appeal. They touch, at close quarters, the common, everyday life of the people.

Riley was born at Greenfield, Indiana, on Oct. 7, 1853, and was the son of Reuben A. Riley, a lawyer in Greenfield. He was educated to follow in his father's footsteps, but had no liking for the legal profession, and in fact after school days, left home and became an itinerant sign-painter. For about 10 years he roamed the Ohio Valley, painting commercial signs on fences and farm outbuildings. His sketches, which showed considerable talent, attracted wide attention, and won praise from his employers.

A trim, basic dress that promises to be the "new girl" on the block. Typical of this wonderful-to-see, young wardrobe is this simple, it buttons down the front, has sleeves and full skirt with a flared hem. The dress has a white collar, a high round neck, long pants, brass tie up or buttons at the waist and a belt. The dress is a beautiful white color.

BRIDGE QUIZ

The privilege of the opening lead is one of the things that gives the defending side a better chance against the declarer's usual preponderance of cards. However, there are times when this privilege can cost you one of more tricks. Therefore, when you are on lead you must consider the twin goals of winning tricks for your own side and of trying to avoid giving a trick or more to the other side. The latter goal may be especially important against a no-trump contract, and should be kept in mind whenever no lead from your hand seems to offer reasonable trick-establishing advantages.

The opponents have reached three no-trump, bidding one, two and three without mentioning any suit. You are to choose your opening lead from each of the following hands.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

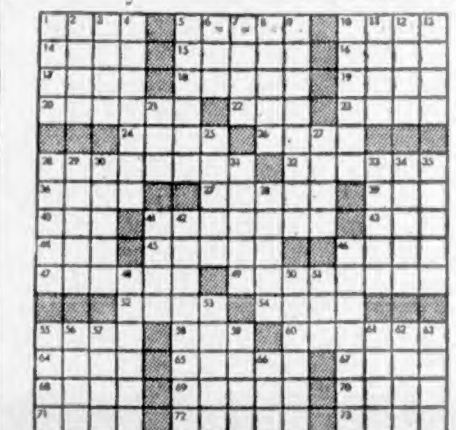

(a) The 10 of clubs. There is some slight risk that partner may read this as a lead of nothing. On the other hand,

(b) The king of hearts. Your shorter suit is better because the lead will not sacrifice a trick. It may be much easier to win three tricks in hearts than in spades, and certainly there is less danger of giving the opponents an extra trick.

(c) The eight of spades. Assuming that you could win three club tricks, you would still need two other tricks to set the game. Therefore, there will be time to shift to clubs. Not leading a low club may give the opponents one or two tricks they could not otherwise win. As between spades and diamonds, there is little to choose except that it is usually best to lead the major on the theory that the opponents are less likely to suppress a long major suit than a long minor.

Park Softball Finalists To Be Decided

A sudden-death game will decide the finalists in the Saanich supervised parks playoffs for the senior boys' softball championship.

Hampton and Qu'Appelle Parks meet Tuesday evening. Majestic Park defeated Broadmead Park 9-4 in an earlier sudden-death semi-final.

In the junior 12 years and under boys' ranks, Tolmie Park scored a victory over Rosedale Park to gain a position in the finals against Qu'Appelle Park.

In the 15 years and under girls' teams competitions, Braefoot eliminated Ruffin, and Playfair defeated Rainbow.

Braefoot holds a one-game lead in the final series by virtue of an 8-7 victory. The next game is August 17 at Reynolds Park.

Lack of Space May Cancel Armstrong Concert

An appalling lack of space in Victoria for big-name entertainment may force Victoria promoter Harold Wittick to drop plans for a Louis Armstrong concert.

Mr. Wittick, making his first entry to the field of promotion, said he will not be able to rent
the Memorial Arena for the concert, scheduled for Saturday, October 23.

While the young promoter is continuing to investigate the possibilities of using other sites, he scored the lack of a civic auditorium in the city.

Mr. Wittick said, "Victoria loses a lot of big-time entertainment because there's no real place for bands to play."
"Since the first of June,"

he disclosed, "I have had to turn down offers from Count
Basie, Jerry Fielding, the Gaylords and Don Cornell.
There just isn't a place to put them."

The promoter should know this week if he can arrange for a hall for the famous jazz trum-pet's band.

Armstrong would bring with him such famous names as Barney Bigard, Trummy
Young, Billy Kyle, Arvid Shaw and Velma Middleton. Only
"unknown" in the group is Kenny John, the young drummer.

well-known Victoria soprano,

The speed of the show and the quick costume changes of create the impression that there are many more people on stage, says Gosley.

Mr. Hutt has been leading

Formosa Forces Prepared

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Communist threats to "liberate" fears of a Nationalist invasion of the Chinese mainland, Premier O. K. Yui declared Saturday night.

"Our invasion of the mainland is in sight," he said in a broadcast.

"The Communist bandits are frightened because they know that collapse faces them."

A government spokesman said Nationalist China is prepared for any eventuality. Even as Taipei radio broadcast Chou's warning, U.S.-supplied F84 Thunderjets and propeller-type fighters zoomed over this Nationalist capital in Air Force Day observances.

Gen. Wang Shu-ming, air force commander, called on his pilots to be ready for a final showdown with the Reds. At the same time he warned residents of this island, only 100 miles from the China coast, to be prepared for possible Communist air raids.

Duke's Tour Sets Pattern For Informal Royal Visits

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — The success of the short informal visit to Canada of the Duke of Edinburgh, who returns to England during the coming week, is a forecast of further visits by members of the royal family.

When the suggestion was first made from Britain, that the duke would like such a tour, there were some misgivings among Ottawa's officials.

It was felt that a lot of Canadians might feel aggrieved because their particular cities or towns were not included in the itinerary. But Ottawa officials are now inclined to think that most Canadians approved of the informal pattern for Edinburgh's trip.

EXPERIMENTAL.
The duke's flying visit to Canada was in the nature of an experiment. The first time a member of the royal family had undertaken brief visits to a few selected communities and out-of-the-way areas.

Ex-Soviet Spy Provides Leads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Information supplied by the ex-Soviet spy, Yuri A. Rastvorov, was reported Saturday night to have put American counter-espionage officials in better position to combat the Soviet intelligence system functions.

mission to Tokyo last January 24 and has been in United States hands since.

Just what action U.S. authorities may have taken on the basis of the detailed information given them by Rastvorov was veiled in secrecy, but it was indicated that American counter-espionage authorities have been in a better position to act since Rastvorov began to talk.

However, Rastvorov has said he did not have any information on Communists in this country, since his field primarily had been in the Far East.

Rastvorov's chief contribution apparently has not been in giving names but in giving a broad general picture of how bureau.

Other intelligence sources said no major arrests could be attributed to him in this country, although there were "strong expectations" that Communist agents inside the Japanese government would be exposed because of him.

The Japanese newspaper Asahi said in Tokyo that two employees had been arrested on charges of selling secret information to Rastvorov.

The newspaper said police took into custody Hiroshi Shoji, 41, of the international co-operation bureau and Nobunori Higashi, 44, of the Europe-American bureau.

Premier Tours North

supplying Fort St. John with its natural gas.

It was another busy day for the premier in his tough, 4,000-mile look at the province, Fort St. John, anxious to out-do its rival, Dawson Creek, had the premier piped across the Alaska Highway Bridge over the Peace River and then down to a moment's rest.

He toured the district by ground and air, visited a school, hospital, gas cracking plant, gas well, rode in a parade, and made a lunchtime speech.

He got his warmest applause during the opening ceremonies when he said that having seen the district he realized more than ever that it just must be developed.

"To do that," he said, "I am going to advocate that the Peace River constituency be divided so that the north side of the river can have its own man to lead its fight in Victoria."

Then he told the crowd he was an optimist and that in spite of the setback to West Coast Transmission, he believes a pipeline will be built and gas will go to Vancouver and across the line. That brought down the house.

EDC Changes Meet Stiff Opposition

PARIS (AP)—Formidable and perhaps unbeatable opposition is building up among Western allies to the French plan to change the European Defense Community treaty.

Some of France's five prospective partners in the EDC army were reported ready to reject most of Premier Mendès-France's modifications.

The resignation of three members of Mendès-France's cabinet Friday gave him a stern warning that big sectors of home opinion think the changes do not go far enough. But outside France the feeling is they go too far.

The premier has the task of reconciling both elements.

A diplomatic source reported one or more of the other allied powers was thinking of sending

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Ranking authorities of most of the world's churches gathered here Saturday to seek a stronger alliance among the long-separated legions of Christianity.

In a day of warring ideologies, the churchmen came to try to marshal their divided forces behind a common cause.

By car, train and plane, a procession of high bishops, priests and preachers, of theologians, patriarchs and Sunday school superintendents moved into this university town.

Their two-week meeting, the first assembly of the World Council of Churches since its founding six years ago, opens Sunday with this goal sounded in its program of worship:

"We pray for the health and the power of the church on earth."

FROM 48 COUNTRIES Delegates, consultants and official observers—1,500 of them chosen by 161 Protestant, orthodox, Anglican and old Catholic denominations in 48 countries—are to take part.

They make up the most widely representative body of the world's church leadership ever assembled in America. Ahead of them is one of the most decisive gatherings, in its varied implications, of Christian times.

It is packed with potentialities that could do much to make or break the effort of the churches—to build a more unified front.

"It is a crucial meeting," said Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, the council's general secretary. "It will show whether the churches are now ready to do more to go forward together."

The assembly will dig into basic theological problems which long have stood as hazy roadblocks to co-operation.

Time-ingrained differences in tradition and backgrounds also present hurdles.

A "formidable hunk of problems" is the way Bishop Elvind Berggrav, former primate of Norway, sees the prospects. He added:

"I am going to this meeting with faith and a prayer, a meeting which I, humanly speaking only, am shuddering at."

Christians from across the U.S. are pouring into suburban Evanston and adjacent Chicago.

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (CP)—Evangelist Billy Graham is ill at his home in Montreat, N.C., and has canceled plans to speak in the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Ill., this week.

A secretary said Graham is suffering from a virus infection and Saturday was running temperatures of from 100 to 103 degrees. His physician ordered him to remain in bed for several days.

The evangelist was scheduled to address the World Council Tuesday morning on the theme, "Evangelism."

Blazing Gun Battle Erupts In Island Fishing Village

(Special to the Colonist)

ALERT BAY—A shotgun-wielding murder suspect was disarmed by a cool RCMP corporal after a blazing gunfight in this small island fishing community early yesterday, and arrested on a charge of killing his common-law wife.

Peter Bordeniuk, 55-year-old fisherman, was flown to Oakalla Prison late last night, charged with murder.

The dead woman is Anna Plesko, also 55, who ran a rooming house here.

RCMP officers, who asked that their names not be used, said a man armed with a single-barrelled shotgun roused Mrs. Plesko and her 16-year-old daughter, Vera, from their beds Saturday morning.

An inquest will be held Monday or Tuesday.

Bordeniuk was said to have been the common-law husband of the dead woman, although they had been separated for some time.

Const. Don Bloxham, who arrived seconds after the fatal shots, had to dive into the bushes to escape a shotgun blast himself.

The officer returned the fire with his revolver and called for assistance.

He was reinforced by Cpl. Jack Ross and another RCMP officer, Corporal Ross, after

Offer Accepted

Salmon Tie-Up Comes to End

VANCOUVER (CP)—The week-long tie-up of British Columbia's salmon industry ended Saturday when 600 striking tendermen overwhelmingly accepted an offer of a $15 monthly wage increase this year and $5 after salmon supplies had been exhausted.

The ballot, taken by members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.), was 88 per cent in favor of a "final" offer by the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing the operators.

The vote was confirmed by association officials, although union spokesmen could not be reached immediately for comment.

It is understood that seniority proposals and a welfare plan made by the association were accepted by the union before Saturday's ballot.

FISHING MONDAY

The fisheries association said acceptance of the wage offer would mean that fishing would probably start Monday, in order to capitalize on the big Adams River sockeye run now heading up the Fraser River.

The union pulled its men off their jobs last Friday midnight to back up demands for a $30 a month boost on a one-year contract. Basic wage was $1.20 an hour.

Included in the union's demands were a revised seniority clause and a welfare plan.

The association said its proposed welfare plan would cost operators an additional $5 a month for each tenderman.

These concessions are in addition to those granted under a conciliation board award.

Included are additional holidays and vacation pay amounting to between $40 and $50 a month.

The strike had virtually idled the province's salmon industry from the outset, although it wasn't until Thursday that 4,000

Tofino Baby Succumbs In Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-day-old Tofino baby who was rushed to hospital here Thursday aboard an RCAF mercy plane died Saturday.

The child, Jennifer Highfield, has been in serious condition since her birth. She was flown to Vancouver in a dramatic mercy flight Thursday afternoon after an earlier attempt to pick her up failed when fog prevented an aircraft from landing at Tofino, on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Neighbors had administered artificial respiration in delays from the time of the child's birth to the arrival of the mercy plane.

The baby was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wilfred Highfield at Tofino.

Invasion Plan Wins Support

TOKYO (AP)—Endorsements of Red China's revived policy to invade Formosa, island stronghold of Nationalist China, poured off the Peiping radio today.

Four separate stories in the Communist radio's English-language broadcasts followed up Premier Chou En-Lai's announcement that the Communists planned a conquest of Formosa and would brook no foreign interference.

Any men meeting in congresses in the north, northeast and northwest placed "strong stress" on the need to prepare for the liberation of Taiwan (Formosa), the radio said.

The Fukien provincial people's congress, the broadcast said, "resolved that the central

PLEADED TO DEFEND

In Washington Saturday night, Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, the Republican policy leader, said the United States was committed "to defend Formosa against an attack by aggressors."

Interviewed on a TV-radio show, Ferguson expressed his belief that Red China's new campaign was brought on by announcement of the meeting next month by the foreign ministers of the United States and seven other countries on a proposed Southeast Asia defense pact.

Cougar Hunter Bags Vicious Sheep-Killer

CAMPBELL RIVER—A vicious male cougar which had been slaying numerous sheep on nearby Quadra Island was tracked down and shot Friday by well-known hunter Dave Williams of Oyster Bay.

Williams' cougar hounds Sport and Boon treed the cat three times before the hunter was able to finish it off with a well-aimed shot.

Williams received a call for assistance late Thursday night from Arthur and Herbert Joyce who have a sheep farm on the Cape Mudge end of the Island.

The ferry Victory II was specially chartered by Williams to make the journey to the island.

To Aid 'Evaluations'

BOSTON—The Christian Science Monitor suggested in an editorial Saturday that President Eisenhower or Democratic Party leaders invite to the United States the British Labor Party leaders now in Communist China.

The Monitor said that in the United States "these British delegates would find information, a welcome, and a concept of freedom and integrity exceedingly pertinent to the crucial evaluations the British travelers seek to make."

NEW PERSPECTIVE

The newspaper said former British prime minister Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan, left-wing leader and sharp critic of the United States, might then return home with a new perspective of world problems.

Meanwhile more than 400 prominent Chinese welcomed Attlee and his delegation to Red China at a reception in Peiping's Pavilion of Purple Light, the Communist radio reported today.

Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai headed the 400, drawn from all walks of life.

Peiping radio said the party

Milestone for Peace River

Bennett Turns On B.C.'s First Gas

BY SETH HALTON
Colonist Staff Writer

FORT ST. JOHN—Northern British Columbia passed another milestone in its industrial development Saturday night when Premier W. A. C. Bennett opened the valve which turned on natural gas for domestic use in Fort St. John.

It is the first time natural gas produced in B.C. has ever been used commercially and the farmers and oilmen from surrounding districts crowded into the baseball park in this city of 1,600 people to eat free barbecued beef and watch the official opening ceremonies on "G" for Gas-Day.

Others attending the ceremony were Attorney-General Bonner, who is accompanying the premier on a fact-finding tour which will take them as far north as Whitehorse; Grant McConachie, president of the Vancouver Chamber of Commerce, and George McMahon, president of Pacific Petroleum Ltd., which has done more than any other company to make the dream of gas riches for this province come within reach of being a fact.

OUTLET NEEDED All that is needed now is an outlet for the proven reserves of more than four trillion cubic feet which are known to lie under the fertile black soil of the Peace River block and everyone here from Reeve Tom Mitchell down is sure an outlet will be found.

Billy Graham Unwell

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (CP)—Evangelist Billy Graham is ill at his home in Montreat, N.C., and has canceled plans to speak in the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Ill., this week.

A secretary said Graham is suffering from a virus infection and Saturday was running temperatures of from 100 to 103 degrees. His physician ordered him to remain in bed for several days.

The evangelist was scheduled to address the World Council Tuesday morning on the theme, "Evangelism."

Refuses To Go Back to Australia

B.E.G. Diver Vanishes in B.C.

BY PETER BRUTON

Canadian immigration authorities have been asked to pick up and deport a 23-year-old Australian diver who refused to return home with the rest of his country's British Empire Games squad.

The Daily Colonist learned last night that Kevin Newell, who failed to place in either the men's springboard or tower diving at the Games, had "disappeared" after competing at the Kelowna Regatta.

Australian team manager Jim Eve delayed his departure in the hope Newell would show up. Mr. Eve eventually left at 11:30 p.m. Friday in the plane taking the New Zealand team home.

"We can't have covers doing that sort of thing," Mr. Eve told the Daily Colonist before his departure.

He said that he had asked the Canadian immigration authorities to find Newell and see that he was sent home immediately.

Newell has no fixed occupation and will take a job any where he can train, said Mr. Eve.

Newell and New Zealand diver Jack Stewart were allowed to compete at Kelowna after Dr. George Athanas of Kelowna, who was chief diving referee at the B.E.G., promised team managers he would see the divers were returned to Vancouver in time to catch their planes.

Stewart returned to Vancouver Friday and flew out with the rest of his team. He told Mr. Eve and Australian trade commissioner James Payne that he had not seen Newell since Thursday.

Newell will be flown back to Australia as soon as he can be found.
